Nixon, Warren Mentioned In Heated Trial

Reporter Denies Charges That He Showed Prejudice

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A television news reporter, under bitter cross-examination by the defense in the Clinton segregation trial, testified today, "People in in Clinton on that Friday night were on the verge of a lynching."

The witness was Bob Allison, 37, correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System. He referred to a racial disorder at Clinton last Aug. 31 after 12 Negroes were admitted to the high school.

The names of Vice President Nixon and Chief Justice Warren came into the trial in passages of by far the most heated words yet spoken in the trial.

Fourteen Tennesseans and northern segregationist John Kasper are on trial in U. S. District Court on criminal contempt charges. They are accused of violating a federal injunction forbidding interference with orderly integration of the Clinton school.

Defense lawyers sought to show that Allison was "prejudiced in favor of integration" and that films and reports he made in town were biased against the segregationists.

Allison flatly denied this and said he had tried hard to show both sides of the story there.

He made news films and broadcast reports of the riots in Clinton last fall, and was an eye-witness of the beating of the Rev. Paul Turner, Baptist minister who escorted six Negro students to school in December.

The names of Nixon and Warren popped up after Allison said he had been a reporter in San Pedro, Calif., and had worked on the Los Angeles Times.

"Did you ever come in contact with a gentleman named Earl Warren?" chief defense counsel Robert L. Dobbs, Memphis, asked.

Allison said he had covered some stories in California when Warren was governor of the state.

"Do you know a man named Richard Nixon?"

Allison, a slim, athletic man, smiled and said he had never met Nixon personally that he remembered.

"But you are cognizant of the fact that they have the same outlook on integration," Dobbs said. "I never discussed integration with them."

The defense earlier succeeded in temporarily blocking testimony of a mail carrier.

His testimony, it was reported, would show that Kasper received his mail at the home of Clyde Cook.

Cautions Against Aid Cuts

Secretary of State Dulles Goes to Bat For Ike's Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told Congress today sharp cuts in foreign aid would bring "greater draft calls" and threaten the prospects for a disarmament agreement.

Dulles went to bat for President Eisenhower's foreign aid money bill before the Senate Appropriations Committee as the House neared the decision stage on a $3,242,333,000 authorization measure setting ceilings on spending abroad. That is a cut of about 600 millions from the amount Eisenhower asked. Congress may cut further in the money bill.

"If we start disarming our Allies, we shall get no disarmament agreement," Dulles said in a prepared statement made public by the Senate committee.

"We shall find ourselves again in the position which has too often characterized the past where we were so lacking in power that hostile forces felt they could discount our role in the world."

The Senate already has passed an authorization bill which would permit foreign aid spending of about 375 million dollars more than that provided in the bill before the House.

A motion by Rep. Selden (D-Ala.) to knock out the long-term feature of a new economic development loan fund provided the main threat to the authorization bill. The Senate has approved the three-year plan Eisenhower proposed. Selden is seeking to cut it to one year.

UNCOMFORTABLE STOP — This is the way the new Ford sedan of Paul Casey of Springfield ended up after it left Highway 52 about a mile west of Windsor Junction early Wednesday. Both Casey and Mrs. Arlene Hall, Columbia, O., were thrown from the car and injured.

Two Are Hurt As Car Veers And Overturns

Both Are Thrown From Vehicle When It Leaves Highway

Two persons were injured, not seriously, and a 1957 Ford sedan extensively damaged about 3 a.m. Wednesday in a one-car accident on Highway 52, about a mile west of the Windsor Junction.

Mrs. Arlene Williams Hall, 19, of Columbia, O., suffered painful bruises on the upper part of her right arm and a bruised left knee.

The two were brought to Sedalia in the Ewing ambulance and taken to the Bothwell Hospital where Dr. Donald C. Proctor rendered medical treatment. X-ray pictures were taken, but no bones were found to be fractured. The couple was released from the hospital.

Casey, assistant manager of the Globe Life and Health Insurance Company in Springfield, has been working in Sedalia the past several months. He has been staying at the El Rancho Motel according to his report to Trooper Pete Stohr of the State Highway Patrol.

The car, according to Trooper Stohr, appeared to have been headed west and left the highway on the right side for approximately 400 feet, riding the right shoulder, then swerved across the highway, crashed into an embankment on the south side and overturned.

Mrs. Hall was thrown from the car but her right arm was pinned under it. Casey said he apparently was thrown out of the car as it rolled over.

George Goodno, driver for the Butternut Bread Co., Kansas City, was passing the scene a short time later enroute to Sedalia and came upon the accident. He stopped other trucks after going to the residence of Ralph Milburn, a short distance east of the scene and reported the accident. Returning, and with the help of a couple of other trucks who had arrived, they were able to push the car up enough to get it off of the woman's arm.

Chamberlin's wrecker towed the car back to the Chamberlin garage in Sedalia.

The woman reported she was visiting her mother, Mrs. Selma Williams at 810 West Benton, and her sister, in Windsor.

Casey told Trooper Stohr his home was in Tableview, Okla., but had moved to Springfield last January where he was employed by the insurance company and came here about six months ago.

Hoffa Sticks to This Claim

Didn't Know Cheasty's Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Testimony ended today in the bribery-conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa with the Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union insisting he never knew John C. Cheasty worked for the Senate Rackets Committee.

The government contends—and Cheasty has testified—that Hoffa hired Cheasty to get a job on the staff of the committee and feed him confidential information on its operations.

Hoffa insisted he hired Cheasty only as a lawyer to help represent the Midwest Teamsters conference at the hearings. Not until he himself was arrested on March 13, Hoffa said, did he know Cheasty worked for the committee.

Edward Bennett Williams, Hoffa's lawyer, rested the defense case upon completion of cross-examination of Hoffa by Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward P. Troxell.

As reported to the House by the committee, the bill carries authorization totaling $1,456,461,800, a cut of nearly $100,000,000 from the bill as it passed the Senate earlier this year.

The bill is quite similar to one which Congress passed last year but which President Eisenhower subsequently vetoed. Last year's vetoed measure carried project authorizations totaling $1,619,292,000.

In vetoing the measure last year Eisenhower said he had these objections:

That Army Engineer reports on numerous projects hadn't yet been completed; that some of the projects should not be authorized, and that in some instances local interests toward construction of the projects.

Rep. Davis (D-Tenn.), chairman of the subcommittee handling the bill, said it now has only 18 projects objected to by the administration, compared with 47 last year. Moneywise, he said, these projects constitute 5½ per cent of the total in the bill, compared with 37½ per cent a year ago.

The projects approved and the amounts of money for them included:

Can't Imagine Use of Troops

Eisenhower Opens the Way To Compromise on Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he cannot imagine circumstances which would induce him to send federal troops to enforce civil rights—including school integration.

Simultaneously, he opened the way to a compromise that might bar the attorney general from acting on his own to enforce desegregation of schools. This section of the administration civil rights bill has been bitterly contested by the South.

Eisenhower's comments were made under questioning at a news conference. He renewed his statement of last night that he wants four objectives met in any civil rights bill the Senate finally passes.

Those objectives include enforcement, without jury trial, of voting rights and similar enforcement of "other" civil rights.

In today's meeting with newsmen, Eisenhower was pressed on the question of whether he favors allowing the attorney general on his own motion to go into court for enforcement of integration in schools.

Eisenhower replied: Not when it's stated that way, without some request from local authorities for action.

The news conference was held as the Senate moved into an all-out fight on the bill, after voting late yesterday to take up the legislation.

Eisenhower said some persons had told him that the section of the bill which authorizes injunctive action to enforce civil rights in general—Section 3—might involve great dangers.

In the ensuing exchange the President said that if you try to go too far too fast in legislation in this delicate field, you are likely to cause trouble.

He said it is a field in which education should be employed.

Eisenhower said his own purpose is reflected in his statement yesterday.

In regard to the possible use of troops, Eisenhower said authorities differ on the extent of authority given a president in this field by post-Civil War reconstruction statutes.

In connection with his statement that he can't imagine any situation in which he would send troops, Eisenhower said he thinks the common sense of Americans everywhere would make any such action unnecessary.

In any event, Eisenhower said he is not seeking any additional authority of that sort.

Declining to discuss specific amendments, Eisenhower said he hopes the Senate proceeds in an orderly manner in consideration of the bill. This was an obvious expression of hope that southern opponents will not filibuster its final passage.

Bride, Groom Apart Until Court Ruling

Mother Thinks 'Ten Year Bride' 'Old Enough'

COLUMBIA (AP)—A 10-year-old child-bride and her 19-year-old husband were separated today pending determination of the status of their marriage.

The sixth-grade pupil, Donna Sue Nichols of Columbia, Mo., and Charles William Turner Jr., were married June 18 at Mexico, Mo.

Disclosure here last week of their marriage led quickly to these developments:

Scott O. Wright, prosecuting attorney, announced his intention of asking that Donna Sue be made a ward of juvenile authorities.

At Mexico the husband was charged with making a false affidavit. He was accused of wrongfully swearing his bride was 15 when they obtained the marriage license.

And Turner, who had been living at the home of the bride's parents, moved to another residence on the advice of an attorney.

Donna Sue is five feet, four inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, has blue eyes and a fair complexion. She appears to be older than 10, but state birth records show she was born Aug. 7, 1946.

Although both the bride and groom had parental consent for the marriage, the license application had no court order attached as is required in marriages where either party is under 15.

The Turners, rejoined briefly yesterday for a conference with an attorney, Lyman M. Cleek, said they wanted to stay married. The bride's mother, Mrs. Maybelle Nichols, said she thinks Donna is capable of assuming the responsibilities of marriage. Donna has been doing the house work for several summers while her mother worked at a hotel.

Turner, who quit high school after three years, is working with his father as a mechanic.

It's Work To Be a Heel

FBI Undercover Man Breaks Gang; Leader Off to Prison

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Deputy Sheriff William A. Buyers had to work hard to become a "heel," but he became a hero almost overnight.

The 27-year-old deputy posed as a disgruntled cop and would-be bank robber for a year to help break a bandit gang as an FBI undercover man.

His heel-to-hero story was revealed yesterday in a copyrighted story in the Buffalo Evening News.

Buyers' undercover work was instrumental in smashing the gang and sending the alleged leader to prison.

The alleged gang leader, Frank R. Coppola, 24, Niagara Falls, was convicted last week in the $52,529 holdup of a branch bank here and was sentenced to 20 years.

Buyers became involved in the case shortly after his marriage to Donna Cuttitta Feb. 1, 1956, four days before the bank holdup for which Coppola was convicted.

When the FBI fingered Coppola as a suspect in that and other robberies, Buyers refused to believe that Coppola, his wife's cousin, could be involved. But when the FBI showed him the suspect's record he agreed to help.

At the request of the FBI, Buyers continued his part-time law studies at Canisius College, retained his full-time job as deputy sheriff, and worked his way into the gang and Coppola's confidence.

At the same time, he had to make a happy home for his wife while complaining about his job and his superiors and trying to make himself as obnoxious as possible to his fellow police officers, in order to remove any suspicions of the gang.

His marriage and studies both suffered.

At one time, he was suspected of tipping off FBI agents about some members of the gang and Coppola threatened to kill him. But Buyers succeeded in casting suspicion upon another gang member.

It was a tip from Buyers that finally trapped the gang Jan. 11 as it was en route to a tavern hold-up that was to have financed another bank holdup. Buyers was in class at college at the time.

Seek Ex-Boxer In Costello Investigation

NEW YORK — Police are searching for Vincent Gigante, a former professional boxer, for questioning in the investigation of the attempted assassination of racketeer Frank Costello.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm confirmed today that Gigante is sought, but he declined to tell why.

Arm said the search for Gigante who has an arrest record, is a matter of "routine investigation" of the case.

Arm confirmed the search for Gigante when asked about a copyrighted story in today's New York Herald Tribune that detectives had been looking for the ex-boxer since shortly after the attempt on Costello's life May 2.

The Herald Tribune said Gigante, whom it identified as a small-time gambler as well as former boxer, bore a grudge against Costello.

The story said: "In addition to establishing the identity of the man sought as a key figure in the May 2 shooting, the Herald Tribune also learned that the assassin hurled these words at Costello just before he pulled the trigger: 'This is for you, Frank.'"

The unidentified assassin fired one pistol shot at the 67-year-old Costello late at night as he entered his sumptuous apartment house on Central Park West. The bullet only creased the racketeer's scalp.

The Herald Tribune story said the police now lean to two principal theories on the mystery.

One was said to be that the gunman had a personal hatred of Costello because he, in some way, vetoed the gunman's rise in the underworld. In this connection, police point to the words "This is for you, Frank."

The other theory was said to be that the assassin was hired by "a sort of underworld board of directors to do away with the boss, possibly because of gambling debts." The story added that "so far, however, the police have not been able to come up with a definite reason for this decision."

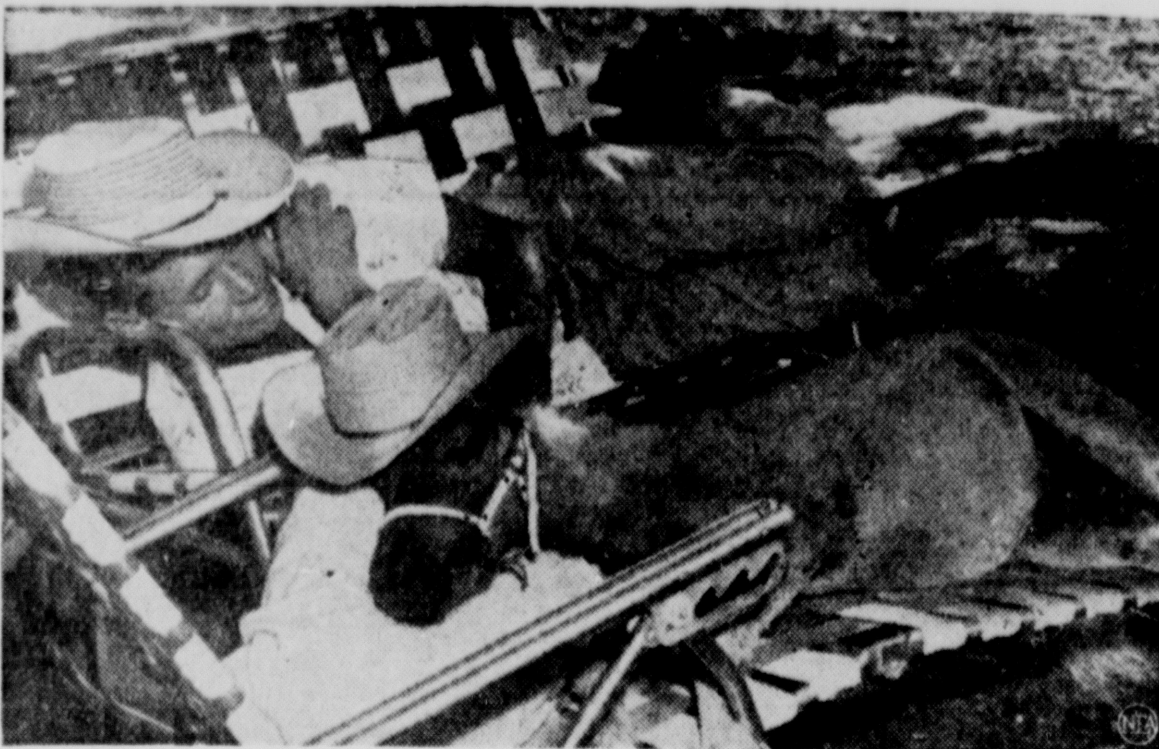

Other angles of the Herald Tribune story included these:

Within a few days of the assassination attempt, police obtained information that led them to Gigante's home, where his wife told them: "He's not around. I don't know where he is. He's disappeared."

On June 14 detectives seeking Gigante issued a flyer, known as a "stop card," to all law enforcement agencies and courts. The flyer asked that Gigante be held for questioning in the Costello case.

The flyer gives Gigante's age as 30 and carries his picture and description. His weight was given as between 230 and 240 pounds.

Shortly after the bungled assassination attempt, police sent out an alarm for the gunman. His description included notations that he was 30 to 35 and pot-bellied, and "waddled" when he walked.

Walks Under Water And Loses His Life

VALLEJO, Calif. — Corky Rhodes, 12, joined in a game of walking underwater at the Vallejo Plunge yesterday and lost his life.

Corky, of San Leandro, Calif., followed his friend Thomas Roy Liscum, 12, of Vallejo, in walking on the bottom at the swimming pool's deep end.

Tom surfaced, missed Corky and called lifeguards. Corky was pulled from the pool after being underwater a matter of minutes.

Breakup Upsets Boy; Threatens To Kill Himself

CHICAGO — A 20-year-old auto mechanic, reported by his mother to be upset after breaking up with a girl friend, threatened to jump 75 feet from a water tower for two hours early today but finally was overpowered by two firemen.

The two firemen, after grabbing the youth, James Vincent, tied his hands with a rope and carried him down the metal ladder leading to the water tower of the Sher and Peachin, Inc., building.

Vincent had stopped at a catwalk 75 feet above the ground and ignored orders from police to descend. Fireman Edward Welz, 28, and Joseph Saladino, 27, climbed the ladder four times and attempted to persuade him to climb down. He kicked at the firemen and refused to budge.

But on the fourth climb, the firemen overpowered him and carried him to the ground.

SALT LAKE CITY — Radioactive fallout from Monday's atomic explosion in Nevada soared to a new high of 7,000 micro-curiosities of beta radiation yesterday.

The generally considered safety level over a 24-hour period is 1,000 micro-curiosities.

The Utah Health Department, which obtained the readings from air samples taken on the roof of the state capitol building here, said the fallout could be considered safe because of the short period of time.

By 1:30 p.m. the reading had dropped to 3,000 and continued downward.

Police Chief Walter Joyson recommended the sirens be kept because "people feel they are being cared for more efficiently."

The meeting reached no conclusion.

Miss U.S.A. Candidates Down to 15

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Fifteen of the prettiest girls in America still were in the running today in the contest to pick the United States representative in the Miss Universe contest.

The beautiful survivors of the first night's competition will parade their charms before the judges again tonight. The winner will take her place in a field of 33 of the fairest of the and many other lands.

Chosen from among 44 American entrants after appearing before the judges, first in evening gowns then in bathing suits, were:

Miss Arkansas, Helen Elizabeth Garrott, 19, West Memphis; Miss California, Peggy Jacobson, 18, Downey; Miss Illinois, Marianne Gaba, 18, Chicago; Miss Iowa, Judith Ann Hall, 20, Council Bluffs; Miss Maryland, Leona Gage, 21, Glen Burnie; Miss Massachusetts, Sandra Ramsey, 19, Haverhill; Miss Nebraska, Carolyn McGirr, 18, Sidney.

Miss Nevada, Joan Adams, 23, Las Vegas; Miss New York, Samita Pelkey, 21, New York City; Miss Ohio, Kathryn Gabriel, 20, Cleveland; Miss South Carolina, Jean Spotts, 20, Newberry; Miss Texas, Gloria Hunt, 20, Corpus Christi; Miss Utah, Charlotte Sheffield, 20, Salt Lake City; Miss Washington, Diana Schafer, 18, Bellevue; Miss West Virginia, Ruth Marie Parr, 18, Saint Albans.

Their selection brought to an abrupt end the sense of fun and happy anticipation that marks the opening days of the international beauty contest. There were tears and downcast faces among the 29 girls eliminated in the opening round, and most of them made haste to leave the auditorium as crowds of photographers and well-wishers pressed close to the happy winners.

Gunfire From Plane Sinks Radioactive Cylinder in Atlantic

NEW YORK — A machine-gun fire from Navy planes sank a drifting container of radioactive waste yesterday. The big steel cylinder had menaced shipping in the Atlantic 185 miles southeast of here.

The planes flew out from Norfolk, Va., and strafed the 21-by-6-foot container. It blew up when water poured through the bullet holes and reacted explosively with the 20 tons of sodium inside.

The container was dumped with others Sunday but charges intended to sink it failed to go off. The containers came from the General Electric Co. atomic plant at Schenectady, N.Y.

Benches Are Stolen

WARRENTON, Ga. — It's standing room only today for Courthouse Square loungers in this east Georgia town because somebody stole two benches that were the favorite roosting places for folks with nothing to do.

A debate is on over whether the theft was the work of pranksters. Some feel, however, that the benches were removed in a careful plan to do away with "Courthouse Square farmers," noted for their endless talk.

Mary Schwartz Becomes Bride Of Don Holland

Miss Mary Olga Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Schwartz, Smithton, became the bride of Donald E. Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie M. Holland, Detroit, Mich., Sunday afternoon, June 16, at the Lake Creek Methodist Church. The Rev. E. L. Rathert read the double ring ceremony before a setting of white gladioli and white daisies.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. James Bass played "Clair de Lune," and "Indian Love Call." After the mothers were seated Mrs. Marion Edmundson sang "Because" and "Always." At the close of the ceremony she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin which lengthened into a chapel train. The fitted lace bodice featured a scalloped neckline and the long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The very full skirt, worn over hoops, was designed with alternating ruffles of lace and tulle. The back of the skirt featured a lace edged overskirt of tulle with appliques of lace roses. Appliques of lace roses were also scattered about on her fingertip veil which was attached to a Queen Isabella crown. The bride wore a gold cross belonging to her mother. She carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Charlotte Schwartz, Chicago, Ill., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a light green ballerina length gown of tulle over taffeta styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Jeannette Edmundson was bridesmaid. She wore a lavender ballerina length gown of tulle over taffeta fashioned similar to the honor attendant's. She also carried white carnations.

Gayle Holland served as his brother's best man and Eddie Schwartz, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. James Bass and George Curry ushered.

Mrs. Schwartz, mother of the bride, wore a sheer navy blue dress trimmed in white. Her accessories were navy and white and her corsage was of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. A white linen cloth covered the bride's table which was centered with a four tier wedding cake. A miniature bride and groom topped the cake. Pink roses and greenery encircled the cake.

Mrs. Paul Culp and Mrs. John Silsby, Sedalia and Mrs. C. C. Schwartz, Chicago, served. Mrs. George Curry was in charge of the guest book.

For traveling the bride chose a white linen suit complemented with red accessories and red rose corsage.

After a two week trip to Florida the couple is residing in Kansas City.

The bride and groom have been attending Bob Jones University in Greenville, S. C. They plan to enter college again this fall.

Among the out of state guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Schwartz, Charlotte and Glenn, Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Eddie Holland and Gayle, and John Mason, Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Blanche Terrett, Joe Terrett, James Terrett, N. D. Curlew and Loddie Adair, Hickman, Ky.

Hats Representing Husband's Occupation Worn at Club Meeting

The monthly luncheon of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club was held at the Bothwell Hotel Friday noon with 23 present.

This proved to be a really gay affair with members wearing hats representing the business or profession their husbands are in. Instead of each member of the ever changing organization standing and giving her name, address, where she is from and what business her husband is in, she merely gave her name, address, and where she was from and let them guess what her husband's occupation was by her hat. There were some very clever hats, too, including a radar helmet, a little truck with sacks of real limestone, a white hat with little emblems of various things in the Red Cross in which her husband was instructor, one working for the government had a hat decorated with money, and many others. Two women whose husbands worked for the same flour company had very different hats, one was made of a flour sack and the other had the emblem of flour brand.

The newest member was Mrs. Nadine Scantlin who was presented a gift. Prizes went to Mrs. Mary Ellen McCullen and Mrs. Mary Campbell. The feature of the next meeting will be games with white elephant gifts as prizes.

Annul Death Sentence For Red Killings

BUDAPEST (AP)—Communist Hungary's "People's Supreme Court" today reduced death sentences to prison terms for seven persons convicted of helping to hang Communist policemen from a Soviet war memorial during the anti-Russian revolt last fall.

Death sentences for seven other defendants were confirmed.

Sobs went up from the 200 spectators and a woman cried out something unintelligible about "justice" as the decision was read. The defendants were surrounded by 20 police, their tommyguns at the ready.

The court confirmed four life sentences given other defendants, increased prison terms for two and reduced the life sentence of Ilona Pinczel, a girl in her late teens, to 15 years in prison.

The 21 defendants were tried in May for taking part in riots last Oct. 26 at Miskolc, Hungary's second largest city in the northeast part of the country. They were accused of being in an enormous crowd that attacked the police headquarters and tortured and hanged seven policemen.

The decision on the appeals was handed down by a five-man court—one professional judge and four "people's judges." The appeals had been heard over the past two weeks in the courtroom at Focutka Prison, where major prisoners seized during and after the revolt are believed confined.

The prisoners for the most part heard the decision impassively. But when the chief judge asked if the seven condemned wanted to appeal for clemency, one of them, Laszlo G. Toth, shouted defiantly: "I only want to speak to my wife once again. I ask nothing of you."

Lawyers for all seven entered clemency pleas, however, and the court announced it would decide later today which ones would be submitted to the Presidential Council.

The departure of the prisoners from the court brought another outburst from the audience. "Daddy, daddy, daddy," cried a blond teen-age girl in the gallery. "Hang me with him! a woman shouted.

Faces a Dare To Take Lie Detector Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bakers Union President James G. Cross goes before Senate rackets probes today facing a dare to take a lie detector test.

Mrs. Nathan Ehrlich of the Bronx, N.Y., testified yesterday Cross once kicked her and slugged her husband. Cross denied her story.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) announced he would ask Cross whether he is willing to take a lie detector test to see who is telling the truth.

Mrs. Ehrlich said Cross beat up her husband, president of the Bakers Union Local 51 in New York City, and kicked her when she went to her husband's aid. She said the incident happened in a hotel room in San Francisco just before the union's international convention there last October. Ehrlich was opposing Cross' reelection as union president.

When Cross denied even entering the Ehrlich hotel room, the woman and her New York lawyer Max Goldstone promptly challenged Cross to a lie detector test. They offered to pay the bill for a truth check for her, Cross and anyone else who might shed light on what really happened.

McClellan said, "It's just that simple—one of you is telling a falsehood. . . one of you is committing perjury." Cross declined to discuss Mrs. Ehrlich's dare with reporters yesterday.

Set for committee consideration later today were charges that United Textile Workers of America funds were used in the purchase of suburban Washington homes for two UTW officials, President Anthony Valente and Secretary Treasurer Lloyd Klenert.

McClellan said in an earlier statement the hearings also would concern "the purchase of clothing, furniture and costly vacations in fashionable resort areas by Klenert." The two have denied any misuse of funds.

Proposes South Korea Reduce Its Forces

SEOUL (AP)—The independent Korean newspaper Hankook Ilbo reported today that the United States has proposed South Korea reduce its 700,000-man armed force.

The U. S. Embassy refused to comment on the report and Ambassador Walter Dowling, attending conferences in Tokyo, would say only, "I have made no statement on this subject."

Hankook Ilbo said Dowling conveyed the troop proposal to the South Korean government early this month. Both Foreign Minister C. H. Cho and Defense Minister Kim Chong Yul denied their government had received such a proposal.

Ike Says Zhukov, Wilson Meeting May Prove Useful

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today a meeting of Russia's Marshal Zhukov and Secretary of Defense Wilson might prove useful.

Eisenhower made the comment at a news conference which ranged into foreign affairs, but also dealt heavily with a prime domestic subject—the administration's pending civil rights bill.

On the latter subject, Eisenhower said he could not imagine any circumstances which would induce him to try to enforce school desegregation through use of troops. Some foes of the civil rights bill have contended it would open the way to military enforcement.

The President's suggestion that a Zhukov-Wilson meeting might be worthwhile stemmed from a request for comment on the recent shakeup of the Kremlin top command.

On that point, Eisenhower said in his opinion the shakeup resulted from fundamental changes within the Soviet government.

Eisenhower recalled that he and Zhukov, now Soviet defense minister, became quite well acquainted at the end of World War II. They were both in Berlin at the time.

The President went on to say that he and Zhukov at that time cooperated very closely, and that a Zhukov-Wilson meeting at this time might prove profitable by bringing together defense ministers of the two countries.

Frederick Earl Doty, 18, of Sedalia, was found guilty Monday in the circuit court at Marshall by Judge Phil Cook on a charge of careless and reckless driving.

Doty was fined $100 and his driver's license was suspended for 90 days by Judge Cook.

Doty, driving a southbound car on Highway 65 last May 6, collided on the curve just south of Blackwater Creek with a northbound car driven by Henry Carter, 71-year-old Negro, also of Sedalia.

Carter died the following day at Fitzgerald Hospital in Marshall and his wife, Stella, 72, was in the hospital for some time recovering from a fractured leg and multiple cuts received in the collision.

Following Carter's death, Herbert Butterfield, prosecuting attorney of Saline County, filed a careless and reckless driving charge against Doty, who was represented by William Brown, Sedalia lawyer.

Judge Cook yesterday rendered his decision on a statement of facts in the case agreed to by Butterfield and Brown, and presented to the court.

Doty has been at liberty on a bond of $1,000 since Butterfield filed the charge against him.

Closer Look At Order To Lower Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three members of the Senate Armed Services Committee said today they want to take a closer look at a Pentagon order for a 100,000-man reduction in the armed forces' authorized strength of 2,800,000.

But two members of the House Appropriations Committee—Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) and Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.)—generally approved the reduction.

Secretary of Defense Wilson, acting with President Eisenhower's approval, announced the cut yesterday to be effective by the end of 1957. He said it would save about two million dollars "without materially affecting deployments of major combat units abroad, including those in Western Europe."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate committee said he had not been informed in advance of the reduction plans.

He said in an interview: "Our committee certainly will want to find out what these reductions will mean in the Air Force and its striking power."

Sen. Francis Case (R-SD), another committee member, said he wants to know "how much of a reduction this means in our combat power."

The Army was ordered to absorb half the cut, or 50,000, the Air Force 25,000, the Navy 15,000 and the Marine Corps 10,000.

Congress previously had authorized a combined strength of 2,800,000 men and women in uniform during the 12 months that began July 1, but the latest defense tabulation showed 2,789,642 on May 31. That would hold the actual reduction to just under 90,000.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said he agreed with Russell that the Armed Services Committee "should find out from the Department of Defense just what their long-range plan is."

Detective Admits The Monroe Raid

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former private detective Barney Ruditsky says he is the one who crashed the wrong door in the botched raid aimed at Marilyn Monroe.

"I'll take the fall for the whole thing. My only trouble was that I acted on bum information," he said.

Ruditsky, 58, told newsmen he had admitted his participation in the raid before a country grand jury yesterday.

The jury is currently investigating the November 1954 raid to determine if any laws had been broken.

Singer Frank Sinatra and ex-baseball star Joe DiMaggio, Marilyn's former husband, did not join the actual raid, Ruditsky said.

"DiMaggio was not even inside the apartment house and Sinatra was at least a block away," the detective told newsmen.

Dog Catcher Has Many Varied Jobs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—William Mueller was hired as dog-catcher for this desert spa, but in the last year he has also:

Rounded up rodeo steers, recaptured a herd of wandering burros, tracked down what a woman said was a mountain lion but proved to be an uncommonly large shepherd dog, removed a desert fox from a trap, removed an errant cormorant from a swimming pool, untangled another bird from a high voltage wire, de-treed a cockatoo, and disposed of snakes too numerous to mention.

Dogs, says Mueller, give him the least trouble.

Little Change Seen In Nation's Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather showed only minor changes in temperatures today but a broader wet belt was indicated.

Fairly cool air continued in the Northeast from the Great Lakes region and Ohio Valley eastward to the Atlantic Coast, in the Far Northwest and southward along the Pacific coast.

More hot weather was in prospect in the central and southern sections of the country, after another day of temperatures in the 90s to above 100 degrees in the Southeast and the Southwest desert region.

Severe thunderstorms and strong winds struck the Bismarck, N.D., area during the night. Heavy rain fell in sections of North Dakota but amounts were generally light in other thunderstorm areas that hit areas westward through Montana and Washington.

Portable TV Called Deadly After Test

CHICAGO (AP)—A portable television set involved in the electrocution of a 6-year-old boy has been termed deadly by an authority on electricity.

Dr. Eric T. Gross, professor of electrical engineering at the Illinois Institute of Technology, yesterday made some tests of the set and said: "At this time there is certainly enough electricity coming from the top plate of the set to kill someone."

Walter McCarron, Cook County coroner, ordered the tests by Gross and other experts prior to the convening of a jury in two weeks to probe the circumstances of the electrocution of Howard Erenstein Jr.

Young Erenstein was killed by an electrical shock Sunday as he brushed against an aluminum cart on which the set had been resting in the Erenstein home. The family was watching TV in the kitchen of their home in suburban Skokie.

In the tests a light bulb was connected with the top of the TV set. Voltage from the set lit the bulb with a bright glow.

Another set identical to the one touched by the boy also was tested with a light socket. It failed to light the bulb.

The set, an 18-inch portable, was manufactured by the General Electric Co., Syracuse, N.Y., and put on the market this year.

General Electric called the electrocution an "unfortunate incident" and promised a thorough investigation. GE also said: "The factory stated all sets are listed by Underwriter Laboratories as complying with standards of safety. These specifications are rigidly followed in manufacture of the merchandise."

A GE engineer from Syracuse, N.Y., Mert Jones, was present during the test but took no part in the testing.

Eye Catching Antique Autos Are Popular Hobby Objects

By HAL BOYLE

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Hunting out and restoring antique autos has become the hobby of thousands of Americans who seek to revive the windblown joys of the days when motoring was young.

Charles and Kenneth Coulter, brothers who operate a florist business here, have traveled more than 10,000 miles in the last few years to build up one of the largest collections of old model Fords in the South.

There was one car the brothers didn't get to buy—for an unusual reason.

Learning that a woman in a small town had a 1922 Ford, Charlie went to see her about it. She willingly led him out to her barn and showed him the cobweb-covered vehicle, but balked at selling.

"But rats are already nesting in the upholstery," pointed out Coulter. "Soon they'll destroy it completely."

"Oh, that's all right," replied the aging lady, confidently. "Daddy will fix it when he comes back. He'd never forgive me if I sold his car while he was away."

Charlie silently closed the barn door and left the car and faithful daughter.

"I happened to know," he recalled, "that her father had been dead 15 years."

Charlie, whose arm was shattered by a Japanese bullet after 119 days of combat in the Pacific, became interested in vintage vehicles after his return from World War II. He and Kenneth, his younger brother, now have more

His first thought was that there had been an accident, he said, and his attention strayed from the red light.

The Sidewalk Bazaar

Definition of atavism is, the renewed manifestation of heredity after remaining latent through one or more generations.

That word, or regression, reversion—even temporary relapse—might be applied by old timers to a new promotion being planned by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce retail committee.

It is a sidewalk BAZAAR!

This is what one might call a throw-back to the days when it was common practice of most merchants to display their wares on the sidewalks in front of their stores. It will revive recollections by today's elders of the fine opportunity afforded decorous (?) teenagers of yesterday to swipe juicy apples, pears, grapes — yes, even watermelons when the store proprietor was engrossed with a customer.

As time passed merchants began to pay more attention to window displays which developed into the attractive modern mode. Sidewalk displays began to impede growing pedestrian traffic. The time came when merchants themselves joined in supporting city regulations against the bazaar method of doing business. So it became against the law to clutter up the sidewalks to tempt and snare a customer.

While the current idea of a sidewalk bazaar is a throwback, it is not to be considered setting or allowing a precedent to be established.

The Sedalia merchants' cooperative sidewalk bazaar is for two days only—Monday and Tuesday, July 29 and 30. For sheer novelty it ought to be a huge success—something different to which the public is sure to respond especially during these dull and sultry days of July's finality.

Other communities have held similar bazaars which were supported enthusiastically and there is no reason to believe Sedalia can't be the continued center of shopper attraction for Central Missouri.

Church and civic organizations may join in this event which will be somewhat educational, too. It will allow the younger people to visualize what their granddaddys and grandmas were accustomed to seeing on Ohio and Main Streets before and shortly after the turn of the century when they came downtown to shop.

Call it atavism, regression, reversion or what not, Sedalians will look forward to participating in two sidewalk Bazaar days, July 29 and 30.

Senator Objects to Tobacco Subsidy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Senator Richard Neuberger, Democrat of Oregon, is all set to make an extremely important demand of Congress—namely, the removal of tobacco as one of the six basic crops entitled to government subsidy.

Neuberger will make this demand on the ground that the public health service has officially warned that cigarettes induce lung cancer.

"Why, therefore," asks the Senator from Oregon, "should the American taxpayers be subsidizing a crop that contributes to the most terrible disease known to man?"

"Eggs, oranges, apples, milk, and meat are not included in the basic crops," Neuberger has pointed out to close friends, "yet they are health-producing crops. Now that the public health service, an official arm of the government, has spoken regarding cigarettes, I do not see why another arm of the same government should be spending money to spread disease."

Few people know it, but Neuberger is the man who prodded the public health service into taking a stand on cigarettes shortly after the British Ministry of Health got into action.

Note 1 — The six basic crops entitled to government price supports are wheat, rice, corn, peanuts, cotton, and tobacco.

Note 2 — Secretary of Agriculture Benson will probably welcome Neuberger's move. A devout Mormon, Benson does not believe in the use of tobacco in any form. However, it's Congress, not he, who rules on which shall be the six basic crops.

Shoeless Congresswoman

Mrs. Merwin Coad, wife of the able young Congressman from Iowa, leads a relaxed life both in Iowa and the Maryland suburbs of Washington. Frequently, in hot weather, she works around the house and in the garden without shoes.

The other day she was driving to the grocery store in the family car when she realized she was driving in her bare feet. Mrs. Coad is the daughter of a minister. She is also the wife of a hard-working young Congressman whose career she doesn't want to handicap — even with bare feet.

So figuring that Maryland supermarkets required a certain amount of sophistication, she turned around, returned home and donned a pair of shoes. Then she headed back for the grocery store.

When she entered the supermarket, the first sight to meet her eyes was a pair of bare feet. Mrs. Coad looked up.

It was the wife of Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt, accompanied by the eldest son of the late President of the United States, Jimmy, however, wore shoes.

Guest Editorial—

GALLATIN DEMOCRAT: How To Grow A Town. Once upon a time — deep in the dark, green jungles — a group of anthropologists made an interesting experiment with monkeys. A large campfire was built and the monkeys came down from the trees and gathered around it, warming themselves, chattering like little monkeys should, and enjoying the fire.

The purpose of the experiment was, of course, to see if the monkeys would have sufficient intelligence to add wood to the fire as it began to die down. They had watched the men build the fire; they had watched from their tree limb perches as these same men put wood on the fire. But they didn't seem able to grasp the idea that more wood had to be added to keep aglow and provide warmth.

So the monkeys sat around the fire and watched it slowly die away. The fire turned to ashes and the monkeys sadly climbed back into the trees.

A town is much like that fire. It will burn itself out if no one bothers to add more fuel. The successful town is one in which everyone works together to add the fuel of ideas, plans, methods, projects and programs.

There is always something new being added. There are always new dreams and hopes and ideas for the town, blazing up in the hearts of the men who keep the town alive and on the map. When everyone adds fuel to the fire, it warms all who work and live there. Its citizens enjoy life with a glow in their hearts.

Such a town is like an eternal flame — it will burn forever. How long since you added fuel to Gallatin's smoldering embers?

Civil Rights Bill Starts With Crutches

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's civil rights bill starts out on crutches. Southern Democrats already have done it damage and thus have won part of their fight against it.

They have convinced a growing number of non-Southern senators that this measure goes too far and needs toning down through amendments, even though many of them appear willing to vote for some kind of civil rights bill.

Southerners want it amended until it's toothless. Even if they get that, they may try to filibuster it to death. Their leaders have said their aim is to kill it.

For more than a week they argued against even letting the bill come up for consideration. They were outvoted on that yesterday. Now the real fight begins, for today the bill itself is before the Senate where it can be amended.

Eisenhower then backed the bill again after the vote, asking that it be passed without major changes. A small number of the bill's supporters — like Senators Douglas (D-Ill.), Javits (R-N.Y.), Potter (R-Mich.), McNamara (D-Mich.) — oppose compromise.

But Sen. Gore, Tennessee Democrat who broke with his fellow Southerners at least temporarily by voting last night to bring up the bill for debate, has said: "I don't think there are 10 senators left who want the bill as it stands."

He's been talking with some of his colleagues about drafting a complete substitute. And last night immediately after the vote to bring up the bill, Sen. Anderson (D-NM) offered an amendment to knock out the bill's No. 3 section.

Of the four sections in the bill it's No. 3 which has annoyed the Southerners most. Under No. 3 the attorney general could move in against a wide variety of civil rights violations, not just cases involving voting rights.

And Anderson's fellow Democrat from New Mexico, Sen. Chavez, is against part of Section No. 4 of the bill.

Under this an individual who disobeyed a judge's order to stop interfering with a Negro's voting efforts could be tried by the judge himself, and jailed for contempt, without jury trial. There is no jury trial requirement, either, for violations under Section 3.

Southerners make big thunder over this too. They argue there must be a jury trial. Chavez supports that. He has taken no part in the squabble so far but says he will not vote for any bill that lacks a jury trial provision.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) suggests the bill be amended to provide a jury trial when issues of fact are involved in voting rights cases. Sen. Mundt (R-SD) goes along with that.

He also goes along with Anderson and the Southerners in wanting Section No. 3 wiped out entirely.

Douglas, commenting on the O'Mahoney-Mundt jury trial plan, has said the kind of jury trial amendment they have in mind would wind up meaning a jury trial in all cases involving voting rights.

Sen. Francis Case, Mundt's fellow Republican from South Dakota, announced he was drafting an amendment to limit the enforcement provisions of Eisenhower's bill to voting rights.

If the Southerners have been able to convince this many people in a week's time that the bill needs changing and softening, they ought to do pretty well in the weeks of debate that lie ahead. They've only started fighting.

Why Blame Coddled Boy For Looking Like Brat?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

The boy appeared to be about 11 — a sturdy youngster with a babyish, plump face. Behind him his tired-looking mother paid their fares — and turned to consider seat possibilities in our crowded bus.

There was one near me. Propelling the boy, she peered beside it saying, "Go on—take it. Sit down." As he obeyed, she shifted the packages she was carrying to reach for the bracing rod over her head.

Over the faces of her fellow passengers had come a strange look, an expression of cold curiosity. It was directed at the child. You could actually feel the wave of hostility toward the unburdened boy sitting beside his standing, burdened mother. Suddenly the woman beside me burst into angry whispering.

"Isn't that some sight?" she said. "The kid sits; the mother stands. What a brat..."

Did the mother notice the other passengers' antagonism toward her son?

I don't think so.

The oversolicitous parent is never aware of the dislike we feel for her coddled child.

She doesn't want to know about it. What she wants above all else is to make the child appear more fortunate than she is. She must get our sympathy at any cost. So she gives him a lithe advantage—the bus seat, the breast of the chicken, the new shoes she needs herself.

Her wish for these advantages is nothing compared to her driving need to make him seem to be abusing her. She has to make a careful point of ignoring the dislike we feel for the child as a spoiled, self-centered brat.

Were our hate of him to register with her, she might have to look at the truth behind her apparent generosity — to fact that she abuses him.

Naturally her child seems babyish and demanding. His helplessness has been cultivated as his mother's stock-in-trade. If he weren't helpless and demanding, she couldn't use him to show us how much she has to do for him—and make us deliver that all-important sympathy.

We all seek prestige. Sometimes like caveners struggling over the bloody tid-bit sizzling over their fire, we'll kill each other for it. Not by the honest club, but by our unknown hunger for admiration.

We'll deny our child any experience of his own generosity to feed our craving to be admired as generous—and maintain him in permanent infancy.

Maybe girls close their eyes when kissing because they're trying to remember the guy's name.

Costs Go Up But Building Goes On For Congressmen

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—A touchy subject on Capitol Hill these days is the matter of 150 million dollars, more or less, which is being spent on new office buildings for senators and representatives.

After making so much noise about the need for cutting President Eisenhower's 71.8-billion-dollar budget, the congressmen put themselves on something of a spot. They created the atmosphere for economy in all things, great and small.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) even carried this so far that he made a speech in protest against the $38,000 spent to redecorating the offices of a new assistant secretary of interior and his two assistants on fish and wildlife.

But this is fishfood and birdseed when compared to the new layouts for the congressman—five-room suites for senators, three rooms for representatives. All the money isn't going to be spent this year. But by 1961 or so, each of the 531 congressmen will have had an average of over $280,000 spent on him for office space.

When word of this and of $1,000 hand-tooled desks and $216 posture chairs with built-in vibrators began to seep back home, the constituents started to protest that it was too fancy.

Rep. Robert E. Jones (D-Ala.) of the House Public Works Committee came to the defense of the senators with an explanation that they would all have simple business furniture.

And from the office of Capitol Architect J. George Stewart comes the word that many senators don't want new desks. They want to keep their old desks, used by great statesmen of the past. Also, the new buildings will have composition floors that won't require expensive carpeting.

But there will be many new desks and files and bookcases for secretaries. And the cost of all this is unknown.

What is known is the cost of the sites and buildings.

The new Senate Office Building No. 2 was authorized in 1948 at a cost of 20 million dollars. Nothing was done about it during the Korean war emergency. When construction was begun two years ago, the cost had shot up to 23 million dollars.

This building will house 40 senators and 12 committees. When this building is opened next January, there will be the job of reconditioning the old Senate Office Building No. 1. Its 96 three and four-room suites will be converted into 56 five-room suites and committee rooms. No estimates yet on what this will cost.

Then, to provide for future growth, the senators want to buy a block and a half of adjacent property. The half block which contains historic old Belmont House, new Women's Party headquarters, will cost five to six million dollars. The full block contains Carroll Arms Hotel and the site on which Veterans of Foreign Wars wanted to build a new headquarters. This could cost another eight or 10 million.

Over on the House side of Capitol Hill there's a complicated building project that may cost 100 million dollars, though this money will be spent over the next five years or more.

Foundations contracts on a new House Office Building—No. 3—will be let this year. This building will cost around 64 million dollars when congressmen move in 1961.

Congress is also buying five more squares of property south and west of the present Old and New House Office Buildings. These sites are estimated to cost around eight million dollars.

On one of these blocks stands one of Washington's newest hotels, the Congressional Congress is buying this hotel and has deposited 1½ million dollars for title. It will be used as offices while Old and New House Office Buildings are being remodeled—at an estimated cost of 18 million dollars.

Then the hotel will be torn down to make space for something else in future years. Just what hasn't been decided.

There's only one note of real economy about this rebuilding of Capitol Hill for future generations of tourists to get lost in. The project to face lift the Capitol itself, so as to extend the building under the great dome, has apparently been abandoned. It would have cost another 42 million.

Scientist Advises Caution In Search for Eternal Life

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the great goals of science today is to make man live longer.

Some people even entertain the fond hope a way will be found to permit them to clutter up the world forever.

Rare indeed does a scientist such as Enrico Greppi of Italy arise to sound a note of caution to these would-be seekers after eternal life.

Addressing an international convention in Rome on the problems of gerontology, Greppi said: "Old age is a fate we must accept. We gerontologists must not be asked to bring along a theory on how to achieve new youth. It would be undignified and morally wrong."

There is a great common sense in this observation. And to tell the truth, science, for all its victories in enabling man to live out his normal span, has done little really to extend that span.

There may come a time when some magic pep pills will enable us to run a four-minute mile at the age of 100, suffer the pangs of a new-found puppy love at 150, and retain some kind of wheezy breath in us until we are 499.

But inevitably, be it at 70 or at 570, the pep pills will wear out, and so will we. Then we shall die, as all before us have done, foolishly hoping for an impossible fountain of youth.

Actually, when in our right senses, most of us calmly accept death as a fact of life and realize that after a fullness of years it comes as a releasing boon, not a punishment.

But, for those who egotistically aspire to live forever, is there no answer? Why, of course there is.

The trick is for them to live so that life seems like it is going to go on forever. After all, as we know, age and time are really only relative. We are as young as we feel. A moment or a day or a year can seem long or short, depending on how we feel.

Here are a few tips on how to make your life seem endless.

1. Marry a woman who prides herself in never getting anywhere on time. Every night you take her out, as you sit on the sofa waiting while she dresses, you can live several lifetimes.

2. Don't take a job that is fresh, exciting or challenging. Pick one that is dull, routine and safe. The deeper in a rut you get, the longer it will take every day to crawl by.

3. Borrow money. Buy everything on the installment plan. Remember, a man in debt can't afford to die.

4. Avoid friends, make all the enemies you can. Friends have a habit of dying young, and leaving you mournful. But enemies spur you on with a desire to outlive them.

5. Engage in all the lawsuits you can. A man who is always suing everybody is looking for justice, and you know how long it takes to get justice in this world.

6. Be afraid of everything you can. Every minute of fear seems like an eternity. The brave man dies but once. Be a coward and you can live through a thousand deaths.

7. Do something wrong every day to build up your sense of guilt. There's nothing like a guilty feeling to make each day wear longer.

8. Avoid joy, seek boredom. Time always weighs heaviest with the bored, but a guy having fun is so busy he hardly realizes he's living.

Anyone who conscientiously follows these rules is bound to come as close to a feeling of personal immortality as human nature allows. He may not live forever, but he will have the feeling his dreary existence is endless, and his life will seem 10 times as long as life does to the fellow who fritters it away enjoying himself.

Bud Abbott to Stay In Entertainment Although Team Splits

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Bud Abbott, who owns a ranch near here, says that his split with Lou Costello doesn't mean that he's retiring from the entertainment world.

Abbott yesterday verified Costello's disclosure that the famous team was separating. Costello also had stated that Abbott planned to devote his time to raising horses.

"I'd starve to death, ranching," Abbott said. "Why I only have two animals on the place—one milk cow that went dry and one horse. And the ranch is up for sale."

Abbott is the slenderer and older—by 10 years, at 61—half of the team. He said that the parting was amicable.

"Lou said he wanted to try it alone and I told him to go ahead, and that I would work out something for myself," said Abbott. "I've got to work to keep groceries on the table, and there's only one type of work I know—entertainment."

Ted Williams Gives Younger Players Race for Bat Title

The Associated Press
You have to figure Thumpin' Ted Williams as the biggest boon to the aged since Bernarr MacFadden celebrated his 84th birthday with a parachute jump.
The Boston Red Sox slugger will be 39 next month, an old man in baseball, but he's giving the kids a fit in the American League, wrestling the home run lead from Mickey Mantle and closing within one point of the Mick in the batting battle.
Williams has hit 26 home runs and is batting .360. Mantle, the 25-year-old New York Yankee cen-

Dusek-Atlas Team Up; Win Tag Event

Wrestling fans were treated to an action packed program Tuesday night at the Liberty Park baseball stadium. But absent from the ring was Gentleman Jim Dobie, likeable fellow and a local ring-side favorite. Dobie was cancelled out when it was learned he had been taken seriously ill at his home in Independence Monday night.

Dobie was scheduled against Wild Red Berry of Pittsburg, Kan., and it was somewhat of a shock to Promoter Gust Karras when he learned of Dobie's illness and in a hospital at Independence.

Hurried arrangements made it possible for a girls' match to be substituted, with Laura Martinez, Mexico City, Mexico, meeting Jean Dyer of Louisville, Ky. It was a rather tough night for the girl from down in Dixie when Miss Martinez took two straight falls, the first in 13 minutes and 12 seconds using the Boston crab hold and the second in five minutes and 25 seconds using the Mexican leg death lock.

The opening event was a rough-house affair between "Red" McIntyre of Ottumwa and Mighty Atlas of Hollywood. The two men bounced each other over the mat with body slams, rope springs, and so on. It was 16 minutes and 35 seconds after the event started that it came to a conclusion with McIntyre body slamming Atlas to the mat to follow with a press and victory.

In the team tag event Bobby Bruns, Chicago, teamed with McIntyre to meet Joe Dusek of Omaha, and Mighty Atlas. It was one of the roughest seen in the local ring in some weeks, but a delightful entertainer to the fans in spite of some screaming objections against the referee.

In the first period Dusek succeeded in using knee thrusts followed by a body press on Bruns to win the opening fall in 11 minutes and 10 seconds. The second fall was won by McIntyre who body slammed Dusek all over the ring, with the timing assistance of Bruns and got a body press to win in eight minutes and 15 seconds.

Mighty Atlas won the final fall when he overpowered Bruns with his neck breaker-sleeper hold. It was a rough period with Bruns getting thrown out of the ring by Dusek into the dust and dirt of the baseball diamond. He climbed back into the ring looking like a mud or dust ball. Dusek roughed him again and tagged out to Atlas who put the final touches to the event in nine minutes and 43 seconds.

Promoter Karras announced another wrestling event will be held at the ball park on Tuesday night, Aug. 6.

Herb Score's Eye 'Could Be Better'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Herb Score says the vision in his injured right eye "isn't as good as I would like it," but he plans a comeback in mid-August as a Cleveland Indians pitcher.

His doctor yesterday okayed workouts starting tomorrow, and said the 24-year-old southpaw should be able to pitch "in four to six weeks."

Dr. Charles I. Thomas said he found "great improvement" in Score's eye, hit by a line drive in a game with the New York Yankees last May 7.

Score said he is ignoring advice to stay out of action the rest of the season, because he doesn't want to spend the off season wondering if he can make a comeback.

His bride of a week, the former Nancy McNamara, accompanied Score to the doctor's office for the examination. They plan to live in an apartment here while Score works out at Lakefront Stadium.

Little LEAGUERS

Vicki Nuzum, the Jaycee team candidate, was crowned attendance queen by the Little League Commissioner Lloyd Gardner in ceremonies Tuesday evening before a large crowd at Little League Stadium. The crowning was held between the games.

Attendees for the queen were Joy Ream, Kiwanis candidate, and Jill Hopkins, Sedalia Ice and Cold Storage candidate. The three girls were escorted from the infield to home plate by members of the teams.

The queen was presented a $25 savings bond and the two attendants received cameras. Vicki is the daughter of Fred Nuzum, 1515 1/2 South Grand, assistant manager of the Jaycee team, and Mrs. Barbara Nuzum, 1515 West Ninth. She is eight years old.

Sedalia Ice won a close game from Kiwanis by a score of 4 to 3. Bobbie Randall was on the hill for Sedalia Ice and Don Wilhite pitched for Kiwanis.

A home run by Ronnie Miller in the last half of the fourth with two men on was the deciding play for Sedalia Ice.

In the second game between the Jaycees and Rotary, the victory went to the Jaycees by a score of 8 to 1. An out-of-the-park homer by Woolery with two men on base was the clinching play for the Jaycees in the fifth inning. Fletcher Gravett, pitcher for the Jaycees, hit an out-of-the-park homer in the third inning. Rollie Zey was the pitcher for Rotary.

Tonight's schedule is Sedalia Ice vs. Jaycees and Rotary vs. Kiwanis.

The Boston (now Milwaukee) Braves are the only National League baseball team the New York Yankees never have faced in a World Series competition.

A Philippine university, Santa Tomas, founded in 1611, is older than any in the United States.

Considerable destruction has been taking place at the Little League diamonds, according to information received from Ralph Hamlin, Little League official.

On several occasions the drinking fountains have been tampered with and left running overnight. On one occasion, 280 gallons of water were dipped from the third base dugout.

A group of boys that are too old to play in Little League have been playing on the diamonds in the daytime and have dug large holes that required filling before diamonds could be used.

Other damage noted by Hamlin was holes cut in the bleacher seats, holes in the back stop and places where it looks like someone has taken a bat and beat on the back stop.

Basketball originated in Springfield, Mass., in 1891.

Pancho Says Pros Better Than Novices

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — "I've always said the pros could beat the best amateurs in the world," said professional tennis champion Pancho Gonzales today, "but a lot of people laughed at me. I think we are proving it this week."

Big Pancho, who has temporarily put aside his money feud with promoter Jack Kramer, was referring to the going over he gave Ken Rosewall and Pancho Segura's victory over Tony Trabert in yesterday's matches in Kramer's Tournament of Champions.

A couple of years ago, Trabert was regarded as perhaps the top amateur in the world. Then he joined the pros and Gonzales slaughtered him in their world tour.

Last winter, it was Rosewall who turned pro right after the Davis Cup matches and he became Gonzales' sacrificial lamb. And yesterday, just to make it emphatic, Gonzales whipped Rosewall, 6-2, 8-6, 6-4, while Seguar outlasted Trabert 6-4, 7-5, 9-11, 4-6, 7-5.

"The pros go onto the court with more confidence," said Gonzales, who joined the pay-for-play troupe in 1949. "If you have one big fault in your game, you'll lose on the pro circuit."

The outspoken Gonzales obviously didn't think Trabert or Rosewall had earned their major "P" for pro yet.

As for Lew Hoad, Rosewell's Davis Cup partner, who signed with Kramer for a guaranteed $125,000 for two years, Gonzales said he was reserving his decision.

"He sure seems like he's determined," said big Pancho. "He may beat me, but I think I can lick him."

They play Sunday.

Basketball is watched by more fans than any other sport, even baseball, in the United States.

Rotary to Start Selling State Fair Bowl Tickets

Tickets to the "State Fair Bowl" football game at the Jennie Jaynes Memorial Stadium on Aug. 30 will go on sale this week, it was announced by E. L. McClung, chairman of ticket sales for the annual event.

The bowl game will again be sponsored by the Sedalia Rotary Club for its project fund, this marking the second year that graduating all-star high school players from the eastern and western sections of Missouri will clash. The Rotary project fund is used principally to help promote youth activities, such as the school milk fund, Little League, and the local Crippled Children's Center.

Last year, the "State Fair Bowl" game was patronized by approximately 4,000 football fans from all over Missouri. Early purchase of tickets permitted immediate entry to the gates rather than having to stand in line for the tickets.

Co-chairman of the ticket sales are Jess Brown and H. W. Harris. Other ticket captains for Rotary will be John C. Brown, James T. Denny, Forrest L. Drake, Martin Goodrich, Glen E. Lewis, Richie Johnson, Ray Lippard, Mike O'Connor, Floyd Priddy, Bill Rice, Merle Vaughan, Keith Yount, and Curt Weaver.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the local Rotary Club or from Bard's Drug Store, Sedalia Drug, and Hurr's Drug Store, and the two Bing United Super Stores. This array of business houses give strategic locations over the city for the ticket sales.

Giardello and Chico Vejar, who meet tonight in a nationally televised, scheduled 10-round fight, have one thing in common. They both need the win, and need it badly.

Giardello, currently ranked No. 3 among the middleweights, wants a shot at the championship. A loss tonight could imperil his chances.

Vejar could be through in the ring if he loses this one. He has lost two important fights this year.

The fight will be televised over ABC at 8 p. m. (CST).

Giardello, a 25-year-old product of Brooklyn, is a 4-1 favorite against the 25-year-old Vejar.

Of the two, Vejar owns the most impressive record—75-10-2. Giardello's is 68-13-5.

Town & Country Girls Lose One, Win One

The Town and Country softball team won one and lost one over the weekend. They defeated Marshall by a score of seven to two and lost to Fulton by a score of 10 to 9. The games were played at the 16th and Center park.

DODGE outperforms "other two" low-priced trucks!

They're off! All three low-priced trucks are lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. The flag drops, and this grueling test of climbing power is officially underway. Dodge takes an early lead.

Halfway up. The extra V-8 power under the hood of the Dodge sends it quickly ahead. It's already two lengths out front. And there's a 1000-lb. test load on each one of these comparably equipped trucks. What's more, Dodge is still gaining!

Dodge flashes past the finish five lengths ahead of competition. Truck "C" and truck "F" just couldn't match that 204-hp. Power Giant. And this is just one of a rugged series of tests that prove Dodge is best of the low-priced three.

Union Leader Is Acquitted Of Conspiracy

PORTLAND, Ore. —The head of the Teamsters Union in Oregon was acquitted last night of a charge of conspiracy to accept a bribe while serving on a Portland city commission.

Clyde C. Crosby dropped his head on his chest when the verdict was announced, closed his eyes momentarily and then flashed a broad grin at the jury.

The State Circuit Court jury of seven women and five men deliberated 2 hours and 48 minutes before returning the unanimous verdict of not guilty. The jury took only one vote.

Thus ended the latest major trial stemming from Portland's lengthy vice investigation.

Crosby, the Teamsters' international representative in Oregon, had been charged with conspiring to place the site of an eight-million-dollar sports center here. The prosecution said Crosby and others conspired to obtain property options at the site.

The 42-year-old Crosby said he favored the Broadway-steel bridge site here. That was where, the state said, the options were obtained.

But the commission charged with selecting a site chose another location, only to have the Broadway area picked at a general election.

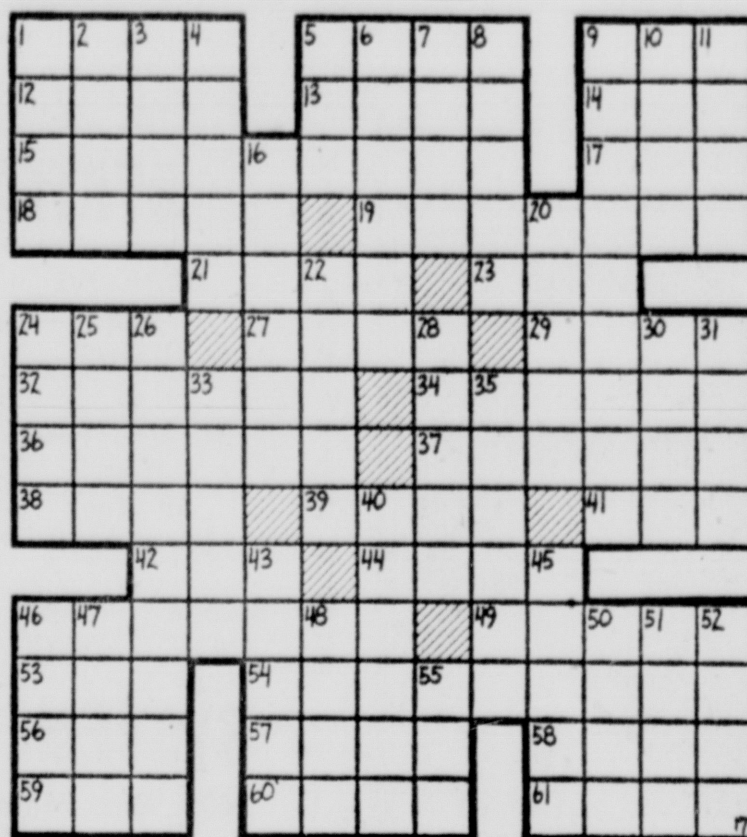

The prosecution told the jury in its closing argument that its entire case rested on the testimony of racketeer Big Jim Elkins.

Elkins had testified that Crosby was in on a plot to obtain options at the sports center site. Crosby denied the charge from the witness stand.

Of the major trials thus far in the probe, two have ended in verdicts of innocent.

'Wish They Could Stay As They Are'

Become Sentimental, Pleased With Attitudes at Jamboree

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—"If you want to know how I really feel," said the tiny little man with the scholarly ways, "I'm rather sorry these boys can't stay as they are, with their joys, their vitality, their dreams."

The fine July night was getting on and over the 1,500 acres of the Boy Scouts' Jamboree City campfire lights were winking out. Most of the more than 53,000 Scouts were asleep, replenishing for today's round of sports, demonstrations, sightseeing tours and the less formal activities.

But some of their elders were still wakeful, pleasantly philosophical and a bit sentimental too. "I suppose there are times when we are all pretty much fed up with the adult world," the little man went on. "It's not only that we seem to make a mess of things again and again, never learning our lessons, but that we appear dismally disillusioned and not, as a rule, quite sincere.

"What I'm trying to say is that these boys have something we all need in our lives. You can't be in this camp a half hour without sensing it. Immature many of the Scouts may be, but they are all superbly alive, just as we all ought to be."

"I'm no cynic," said a newspaperman, "yet I shudder to think what the grownup way of doing things is going to do to some of these kids. Come to think of it, maybe I was like this once."

The professional man spoke gently: "That put me in mind of what Andre Gide said: 'If we could recapture the uncompromising spirit of youth our greatest indignation would be at what we have become.'"

A scoutmaster had his say: "Some of the people back home often needle me about scouting. They can't understand why a business or professional man wants to go in for this sort of thing. Their idea of helping the boys is to donate a few dollars every year. There's no way of getting across to them what they're missing."

Yesterday was rallying day for the Scouts and their leaders of many of the Eastern states. Men in high places came and spoke to the boys, shared their chow, sat down with them and tried to close the gap of the years.

One of the speakers, Maj. Gen. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, adjutant general of Pennsylvania, said: "I consider this jamboree the cradle of decency and of the kind of Americanism which forms the basic philosophy of this country."

"I urge you Scouts to take the opportunity to exert your influence and to help mold the pattern of tomorrow's world. . . ."

Man Fined for Giving Match to Zoo Baboon

EXMOUTH, England (AP)—Charles Woolcott, 49, was fined 25 pounds ($70) yesterday for giving a lighted match to a zoo baboon. Witnesses testified the baboon snatched an unlighted cigarette from Woolcott, who then lit a match and handed it to the animal, saying: "You'd better have a light too."

The baboon was burned on the knuckles.

Woolcott was convicted of "causing an animal unnecessary suffering."

Draw Confusing Scene In Art House; Irate President Resigns

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP)—The Livermore Art Assn. doesn't just argue over opposing theories of painting. It fights with brushes.

Six women members recently tackled the drab wall of the association's rented building. In jig time the wall was ablaze with gaudy yucca plants, cacti and prickly pears.

The association president, Dr. James Paul Wesley, a theoretical physicist, took one look and "foamed at the mouth," he reported.

The yuccas, he shuddered, were a sickly yellow, the cacti a bilious green; the lines were bad, the taste poor.

He recruited another male member, Ray Gighofer. They speedily covered the ladies' proud handiwork with brown paint.

The women, far from defeated, washed off the brown paint and tenderly restored the desert scene.

"At least he recognized that the design included cacti and yuccas," remarked Mrs. Alice Corbett,

2-Year-Old Boy Found Dead of Exposure

BRIDGEPORT, Calif. (AP)—The body of 2-year-old David Allen Scott was brought to this mountain community late yesterday after the youngster—dead of exposure and exhaustion—was found at the 8,500-foot level of Eagles Peak.

The boy strayed Saturday from the Sierra campsite of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott of San Diego.

The body, clad only in a T-shirt, red, white and blue socks and one shoe, was found among boulders on the steep slope. He had climbed an incredible 3,000 feet higher than the camp, losing his other little red canvas shoe and his brown play trousers along the way.

Undersheriff Jack Gardner said the child apparently died Saturday night.

chairman of the Decorations and Party Committee.

"I quit," said Dr. Wesley, writing his resignation.
